

Interested in exploring one of the world's most vibrant cities?
Are you independent and curious?

Spend 6-weeks in London where you will conduct your own research with the Student Project for Amity among Nations (SPAN) program, where you will:

- Immerse yourself in the city of London
- Explore other parts of the UK
- Choose and carry out a research project
- Be part of a cohort with Hamline students
- Be mentored by faculty who are trained researchers
- Earn 4 Hamline University credits in the spring term
- Earn 4 Hamline University credits in the summer term
- Earn Hamline Plan letters W + G + P
- Receive SPAN and GEC scholarships + utilize your financial aid

To learn more about the course, contact Letitia or Leila.

Letitia Basford: lbasford01@hamline.edu Phone: 612-804-1798

Leila DeVriese: ldevriese01@hamline.edu Phone: 651-523-2940

Jake Halverson: mnspace@hamline.edu

The SPAN experience consists of two 4-credit courses:

*Spring semester 2023: GLOB 3020 Interdisciplinary Research Methods (pre-requisite for GLOB 3980)

London-bound SPANners must enroll in GLOB 3020. In this hybrid (online/in-person) 4-credit course Students will decide on a critical research question and draft a research project proposal for their GLOB 3980 Cross-Cultural Field Work (Part 2 of the program that takes place in the summer). Students learn to design and implement structured inquiry and complete the first chapters of their thesis.

*Summer of 2023: GLOB 3980 Title TBD (Cross-Cultural Fieldwork: SPAN in UK program)

6 weeks in June + July (precise dates TBD): (in-person format, London) 4-credit course

Students work toward project completion from work started in GLOB 3020 by conducting original data collection in a cross-cultural and comparative context. Students are expected to culminate their fieldwork in the UK by completing a paper or project allowing for public display of scholarship.

SPAN@Hamline Program Director + Faculty Advisor: Letitia Basford, Ph.D. Professor Basford teaches in Hamline's School of Education & Leadership. She has led study-abroad courses in Mexico, Thailand, and England. She considers London to be one of the finest cities in the world and is eager to share it with you!

Faculty Advisor: Leila DeVriese, Ph.D. Professor DeVriese is a professor of Global Studies, Administrative Head of the School of Global Studies, Ethics, and Cultural Studies. Professor DeVriese is also the Director of Hamline's Global Engagement Center.

Deadline to apply: Applications are due Jan. 15, 2023. The SPAN program is capped at 10 students.

To apply: Global Engagement Center, 15 Old Main, Leila DeVriese: ldevriese01@hamline.edu

To inquire about SPAN scholarships: See this website: <https://minnesotaspan.org/scholarships/> + contact Jake Halverson halve220@umn.edu

Here are other scholarships to investigate:

- Diversity Abroad: <https://www.diversityabroad.com/scholarships>
- GoOverseas.com: <https://www.gooverseas.com/scholarships>
- Go Abroad: <http://www.goabroad.com/?subfolder=scholarships-abroad>
- The Center for Global Education:
<http://allabroad.us/funding-study-abroad-scholarships.php>
- The Fund for Education Abroad: <http://fundforeducationabroad.org/applicant>
- Benjamin A. Gilman International Scholarship:
<https://www.gilmanscholarship.org/program/program-overview/>
- Boren Awards: <https://www.borenawards.org/>
- Institute of International Education: <http://www.studyabroadfunding.org/>
- IEFA: <https://www.iefaf.org/scholarships>
- The Fulbright Program: <http://eca.state.gov/fulbright>